China blasts 'il' US as Biden rallies allies on Europe trip

Foreign ministry spokesman Zhao Lijian criticises Biden's efforts during summits of the Group of Seven and NATO in recent days

The document also said that the bloc "maintains a constructive dialogue with China where possible." "China certainly has reason to be worried as the NATO action can be seen as yet another US-led move to encircle and contain China," said Vivian Zhan, an associate professor of Chinese politics at the Chinese University of Hong Kong. "China will be motivated to strengthen its ties with the US allies, such as through trade, investment and diplomatic actions so as to undermine the US alliance or make it more costly for the US to maintain it." China took particular aim at NATO, after secretary-general Jens Stoltenberg said the alliance was "concerned by China's coercive policies, which stand in contrast to the fundamental values enshrined in the Washington Treaty" on which the bloc rests. Stoltenberg cited China's rapidly expanding nuclear arsenal, military cooperation with Russia and its use of disinformation.

The alliance has "inflicted war and turmoil on the world," Zhan said, raising the 1999 bombing of its embassy in Belgrade. "That is NATO's debt of blood to the Chinese people," Zhan said. The US later apologised for the incident, saying it was a mistake resulting from the use of outdated maps. Earlier, China's mission to the European Union had struck a more measured tone, saying the country doesn't pose a "systemic challenge" to any countries. Still, the mission warned that Beijing wouldn't "sit back" in the face of any challenges, according to a statement posted on its website Tuesday.

Biden had pushed for G-7 to confront China on topics such as forced labour and human rights abuses, and on its Belt and Road Initiative infrastructure plan. He said he also raised the issue of China refusing outside access to its laboratories to determine the origin of the Covid-19 outbreak.

JAPAN WILL DECIDE this month on whether to allow domestic spectators at the Tokyo Olympics, the government's chief spokesman said on Wednesday, after experts signed off on a plan to allow crowds of up to 10,000 people at events.

The final call at attendance at the Games will be made taking into account coronavirus infection conditions and the prevalence of variants, Chief Cabinet Secretary Katsunobu Kato told reporters. Economy Minister Yasutoshi Nishimura said health experts agreed with a government plan that would permit up to 10,000 spectators or 50% of a venue's capacity, whichever is smaller, at events. Allowing such crowds depends on there not being special infection controls in effect, however. Foreign spectators are already prohibited from the Olympics beginning on July 23 as part of measures planned to deliver what Japanese government and Olympic officials promise will be a "safe and secure" Games.

Tokyo organisers might be forgiven for eyeing soccer's European Championship with envy, as tens of thousands of fans are expected to gather in stadiums across the continent throughout the month-long spectacle.

On Tuesday, a full house of 67,000 supporters watched Hungary take on Portugal in their Euro 2020 opener. Other nations are allowing various sized crowds, with up to 45,000 expected at both semi-finals and the July 11 final to be played at London's Wembley Stadium. —REUTERS

BLOOMBERG June 15

CHINA LASHED OUT at the US, calling the country "very ill indeed," after President Joe Biden secured support from European allies to present a more united front against Beijing.

Foreign ministry spokesman Zhao Lijian criticised Biden's efforts during summits of the Group of Seven and North Atlantic Treaty Organisation in recent days. The response was the latest sign of Beijing's frustration with Washington, amid tensions over everything from trade and security to human rights and the pandemic.

"The US is ill and very ill indeed," Zhao told reporters in the ministry's first news briefing since the G-7 meetings in the UK. "The G-7 had better take its pulse and come up with a prescription." Zhao criticised the G-7's communique, which expressed concern about Chinese policies in Taiwan, Hong Kong and Xinjiang — issues that Beijing argues are its own domestic affairs. Still, he sought to play down the size of US' coalition, saying the statement "exposes the bad intentions of the US and a few others to create confrontation and estrangement and expand differences and disagreements." Washington has been seeking to build a united front on Beijing, though Biden settled for a modest condemnation at the G-7 meeting and incremental results from NATO. A communique released after NATO's meeting mentioned China 10 times, compared to just once after the last summit in 2019. Russia was named more than 60 times this year.

Indian students to benefit from UK post-study visa deadline extension

INDIAN STUDENTS, AS one of the largest groups of international students enrolling at UK universities over the past year, are set to benefit from an extension to their entry deadline to qualify for the new post-study work (PSW) visa. The Graduate route visa, commonly referred to as a PSW visa, allows eligible overseas students to work or look for work, for two years after completing their courses.

It was launched by UK Home Secretary Priti Patel last year and under the application requirements, students undertaking their courses long-distance given the Covid-19 lockdown restrictions were expected to be present in the UK by June 21 to qualify for the Graduate route. —PTI
